Nansemond-Suffolk Academy
Suffolk, Virginia

1975-1976
Volume X

Although we may appear separate on the surface, our lives have become products of unity. We are of different cultures, nationalities, and areas; yet, through a common sense of need, understanding, and compassion for one another, we have come to realize that we belong.

Each of us is a member of several communities — our families, our neighborhoods, our churches, our states. This dual citizenship also includes our school. Here, different people from greatly varied backgrounds meet to form the core of Nansemond-Suffolk Academy. Our common comradeship and goals make each person a valuable and unique member of our fraternity.

Debra -
I especially like you because you are a great friend to me. You are probably here only true friend. I would like to wish you all the luck in your racing this summer. I hope that your horse is a great success.

Good luck in the future and in history. Don't ever forget Hatcher.
Look up to me because I will be a big senior see you this summer

As an athlete, a club member, a library aide, or a first-time ecology student, each of us belongs at NSA. Our individual uniqueness does not impede harmony; instead, such differences nurture it. The complete picture occurs only when each piece of the puzzle is inserted, when each member assumes his position at school. The positions and roles are different; yet, at NSA, we belong.

A MEMORABLE (?!) NIGHT

"The Artisticks" performed for the Spring prom in 1975.

Feverish activity from the Juniors, growing anticipation among the Seniors: Who's the band? Got a date? What about chaperones? I need a new dress. What type of flowers should I buy? But, Mrs. Robinson, I already have a date! Finally the big night arrives: music, color, decorations, refreshments, flowers, excitement. A few brief hours on a Southern plantation created especially for this night come to an end, and prom night, 1975 — "Southern Comfort" — becomes a memorable night.

Darden Langston stocks up before the next dance.

AN EXCHANGE

Her name is Ruth Baroja de Palacios. She has one brother, one sister, a mother and a father in Ecuador. She has one brother, two sisters, a mother and a father in the United States. Ruth is a participant of the student exchange program of ICX. She lives with the Stroud family in Suffolk. Ruth is a senior here at NSA and plans to be a bilingual secretary. She thinks U.S. life is really great! Ruth has enjoyed many things this year such as football and basketball games, Homecoming, dances, intramural games, and parties. Ruth has made many friends and will leave NSA with treasured, unique memories.

Ruth laughs with one of her American sisters.

Government class was entirely new and foreign to Ruth, but it was fun.

EVERYONE BELONGS

The many rides included the Swings, the Moon Walk, the Train, the Hay Ride; but, the main attraction for the smaller children seemed to be the Pony Rides. The ponies were lead around by their owners.

There were many crafts exhibited, even pottery.

Everyone waits their turn for a new experience.

AT FIELD DAY

The Bluegrass Club's hay ride included singin', pickin', and just plain fun!

Tweedy — one of the many senior clowns at Field Day.

Field Day is a day for everyone — students, teachers, and others. There are clowns, rides, booths, races, a raffle, a parade, food, and plenty of people. The P.T.O. works very hard to get everything together. The patrons all work and make things to sell in the booths. Some families even bring crafts to display for sale. The classes and clubs each sponsor a booth, which can be anything from a football throw to a sandwich shop. Every year the students work to sell raffle tickets for the drawing at Field Day. Even lunch is provided. Before lunch the band has a parade to lead everyone over to the football field. Here the children and parents participate in all sorts of races to win ribbons. Field Day is indeed a day for all people!

November 7, was the big day, our 1975 Homecoming. The preceding week had been "Spirit Week" at NSA in order to raise school spirit for the game. Darden Ward and Jody Bryant were chosen Mr. and Miss Spirit. Activities included dressing up differently each day, working on floats, and cheering at an outdoor pep rally and bonfire. Friday night the Saints easily defeated the Broadwater Vikings 28-8. The half-time show was fabulous: the band made formations, the majorettes twirled with fire, and the class floats paraded by the judges' stand. Finally, Camille Jones was crowned Queen and Mary Eberwine was chosen Maid of Honor. The attendants were from the Eighth Grade, Dixie Presson and Melissa Darden; Ninth Grade, Paula Baker and Amy Goldman; Tenth Grade, Cindy Pruitt and Lisa Whitt; Eleventh Grade, Diana Mayer and Doris Lawrence; Twelfth Grade, Betty Williams and Cathy Honeycutt. The night was climaxed by a dance after the game — an affair which featured Drew Foxx and attracted many alumni.

LITERARY SCENES

Miss Eudy offers a little constructive criticism.

Mr. Horton makes himself at home.

* Lisa Peery and Kathy Pope show that the Senior Lounge is not always used for pleasure.

Mood books, plays, term papers, research, book reports — the aspects of the English department are as numerous and varied as the students and teachers comprising it. The curriculum does not deal only with the traditional grammar and Shakespeare, but it probes into creative writing, the modern novel, and even Thor comic books. English classes have been sighted in such places as the outdoor classroom, Scope, Tower Mall, the newspaper office, and, occasionally, even the traditional classroom.

As with every other part of the school, however, there is unity to be found here. The diversity of the department provides an opportunity for the individual student to work in every area, finding the one which best suits him — the part to which he belongs.

June Britt keeps a close eye on those ahead while marching in Suffolk's bicentennial parade.

CELEBRATING THE SPIRIT OF '76

Here, we see depicted soldiers from two of the most recent wars in our country's two hundred year history.

Governor Godwin greets spectators of the bicentennial parade.

Our nation's bicentennial celebration has affected nearly everyone. "Bicentennial Fever" seems to have struck the nation, and N.S.A. has certainly not been immune to it.

In our halls can be seen posters and bulletin boards on this subject. Nearly every classroom has had a mural, pictures, or compositions concerning the bicentennial decorating its walls. And, of course, when Suffolk held the bicentennial parade, N.S.A.'s band was there to add their own musical salute.

The list of bicentennial activities in our school could go on endlessly. Each student seems to have found his or her own way to express his feelings about our nation's birthday. Whatever the media, however, we all radiate the same attitude of pride in being a part of the festivities.

Carla Horton, Diana Mayer, and Mary Eberwine, bearing the respective banners of our nation and school, lead the band in the parade.

Ben Franklin himself seems to have journeyed to Suffolk with the Liberty Bell!

Mr. Holland leads Bible Study

A new club at NSA has been added this year. The sponsor of the Bible study is Mr. Holland. They meet every Monday and Friday during activity period. The group is mainly studying the book of Ephesians of the new testament.

Brian Wills, Mr. Holland — sponsor, Art Kelsey, Jeannie Liles, Eric Warner, Cliff Cummings, Martin Chapel, Joyce Kelsey.

Drama Takes 5

The drama club has only just begun. The officers this year are: President — Nancy Evans, Vice-President — Trudy Bevel, Secretary — Margaret Lankford, and Treasurer — Laura Matsushige. The sponsor, Mrs. Gay Birdsong, has great expectations for this year.

The Thespians portrayed clowns at Field Day. They gave a "side show" during breaks between races. Also they sponsored a booth to make-up children as clowns. This spring a play is planned to be presented.

Glenda checks out Debbie's work.

The annual staff is always trying to please everybody. We work every chance we get, always trying to meet deadlines. Before deadlines everyone and everything are in a frenzy. We stay after school and stay indoors on beautiful afternoons. This year we even came and worked on Christmas Eve! Robin, our editor, is always pushing us and reminding us of all our deadlines. She also has all the headaches and responsibilities, along with Miss Eudy and Mrs. Williams, of lugging home the layouts and finding mistakes and handing them back to the staff members to do all over. But in spring when the annuals come out, all the work, tension, long hours, and headaches seem worth it.

STUDENTS ARE INVOLVED

The Foreign Language Club had their meetings this year once a month. They talked about many things. This spring the people who wanted to go to Mexico were welcome. Last year the club took a trip to Spain and had a wonderful time, thanks to Mrs. Seal, who acted as their chaperone.

The Forensics Club worked hard this past year and had their annual meet in March. Last year they had several winners and hoped for more this year.

The Newspaper Staff got on the ball in the beginning of the year, putting their first paper into circulation in October. They printed several more newspapers during the year. N-SA really appreciated their hard work during the '75-'76 school year.

Galactus, a new newspaper in our school was brought to our attention by Mr. Nichols. It prints the students' original literary works.

Math Offers Fun and

Nansemond Suffolk Academy's math department consists of five teachers. They are Mrs. Marion Friend, Mrs. Emily Lynch, Mrs. Lynn Robinson, Mrs. Lena Small, and Mr. Dick Holland. Two of the five are new to the academy this year, Mrs. Emily Lynch and Mr. Dick Holland.

The math department at NSA offers courses ranging from Math 8 and 9 to Calculus. There are also several courses in business math offered.

New techniques have been tried by several of our teachers this year. Mrs. Robinson's geometry class worked on handcraft projects dealing with geometric shapes and figures. Several interesting projects like this have made math a fun new experience for students.

Knowledge to NSA Students

In Government, the Seniors learn about the way the country works. They have reports to do, learn the Constitution and the amendments, the presidents, and all about the United States' political background, so they can have a better understanding of our country. It's a tough course but hopefully everyone gets by.

Mr. Hatch fires questions in a game of "History Bowl".

Bob Zentz captures his audi-mouth harp to guitars.

"The Shiek" and his manager, Michael, try new techniques for obtaining votes at election time.

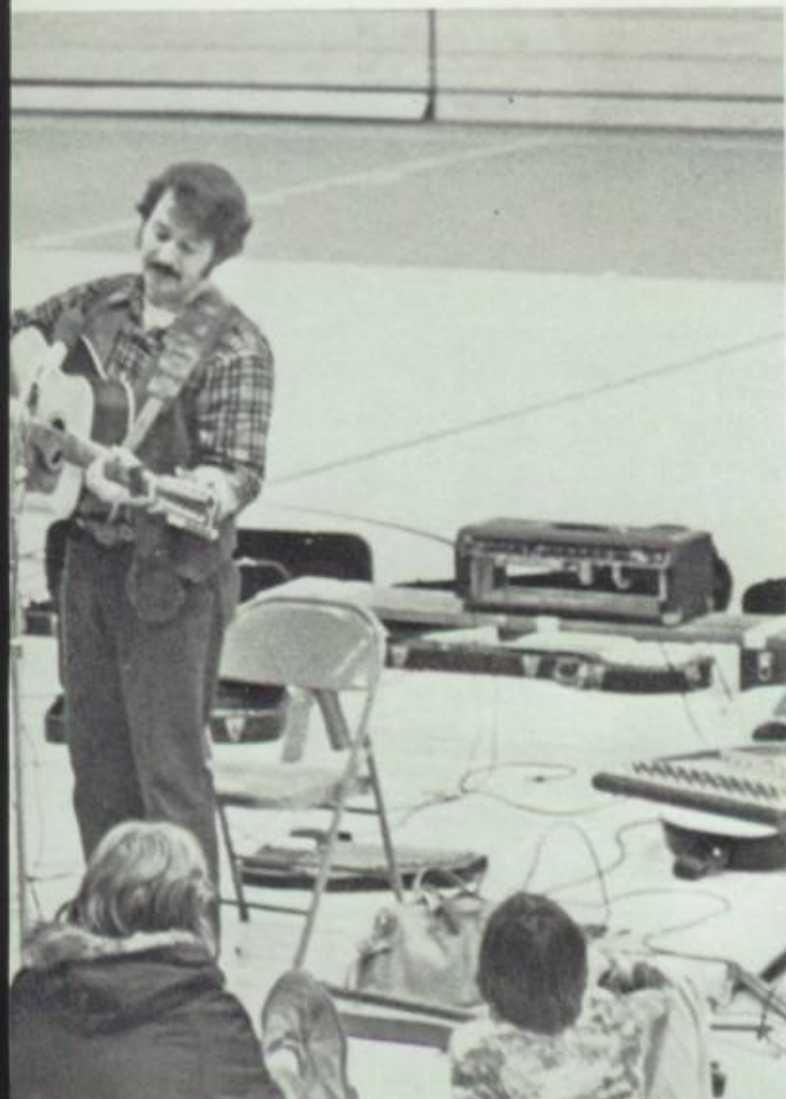

In the other years of high school, except during the Sophomore when World History is an elective, students learn about the past, present, and future of the rest of the world. They come into the areas past their own surroundings. They see how life is lived elsewhere. And then they choose, and most come home again.

Through the years the SCO has continued to make progress at NSA. This year also, the SCO has met many ideals.

The SCO grows as the school grows. This year Ben Seal heads the pack as President with Mrs. Birdsong as Sponsor. But the SCO is not just a few people. It is everybody at NSA. They are then represented by the SCO and Class officers, homeroom representatives, and committee chairmen chosen by Ben.

Last spring during elections Ben promised a lot of things such as a dance every month! He has kept his promise. At Field Day they made a lot of money by washing cars. For Homecoming the SCO went all out and really worked even though each member had his or her class to work for also. This year exchange students from Kenston Forest visited us for a day thanks to the efforts of SCO planning. In December, Bob Zentz, an accomplished musician, came and entertained and taught us many things about America's musical history.

WORK TOWARD THE FUTURE

SCIENCE CLASSES . . .

The FHA officers demonstrate their cooking ability. This years officers are Camille Jones — President, Cathy Honeycutt — Vice President, Donna Strickland — Secretary and Connie Roundtree — Treasurer.

30, 40, Game! Football? No, it is tennis, and with the opening of N-SA's new courts, the girls in physical ed are learning to play the game. Not only do they play tennis, but, along with the rest of the students in the P.E. classes, they play basketball, volleyball, and soccer. Health is also a part of the P.E. program.

Under the guidance of Mr. Adams, Mr. Barnes, Mrs. Cline, Mr. Duke, Mr. Holland, and Mrs. Robb, students learn to use the laboratory and its equipment. The microscopes and other apparatus are employed by the various classes to explore the world of science.

The FHA club and the Bachelor Living class give an added depth to the Home Economics department. The FHA is a club composed of girls who have taken at least one year of Home Economics. Club members, with the help of Mrs. Robb, sew, cook, and raise money from projects. The project for this year is the construction of quilts.

Miss Spruill and Mr. Eudy check the Health grades of the boys.

The F.T.A. and F.B.L.A. are two clubs closely related at N-SA.

The Future Teachers of America do things to help teachers such as keeping classes, grading papers, and putting up bulletin boards.

The Future Business Leaders of America promote business experiences. Their money making project was the sale of Little Darlings, which was a big success. They also took a field trip to Hobb's Engineering in Suffolk.

The two clubs got together for a combined meeting to hear a speaker on parliamentary procedure. Together, these two clubs help to prepare students for future careers.

TRI-HI-Y AND HI-Y WORK TOGETHER

Members of the Tri-Hi-Y meet every third Tuesday to discuss school and community projects.

The Hi-Y this year through the help of Mrs. Small and Mrs. Dorothy Williams, has taken on two projects. Their first was the promotion of school spirit. They sold NSA spirit buttons at football games. For their second project, they adopted grandparents at local nursing homes.

The major project for the Hi-Y was a canned goods drive for the needy at Christmas. This Christian organization under the leadership of Mr. Holland, raised money at Field Day by selling concessions.

Together, these two service clubs work to help the community as well as their school.

It is quite an honor to become a member of the Beta Club. You not only have to have high academic ability, but also you must be involved in other activities. The number of members has almost doubled since last year with the addition of 18 juniors. These new members were tapped into the Beta Club last spring at an assembly. At the last Beta Convention, the state officers were elected. Of the four positions two were filled by members of our Beta Club. State president—Brenda Holland and parliamentarian—Nan Pearson. With the help of their new sponsor, Mrs. Robinson, they sold stationery to raise money for their treasury.

At the football banquet, attended by the players and cheerleaders, the Monogram Club gained many new members.

SCHOOL SPIRIT BOND TOGETHER TO ART OF NSA

The Pep Club under the leadership of President, Lona Dailey and sponsor, Mr. Eudy, has done much to improve school spirit. They have sponsored pep buses to get more people to support the Saints at away games. To build up spirit in the football team and students, the Pep Club for the first time sponsored a bonfire the night before Homecoming.

The Monogram Club is one of the largest clubs at NSA. This shows how interested the students are in athletics. At school the members of this club are distinctive in their monogram jackets and sweaters. Their activities have included going to see the Citadel vs University of Richmond on November 8. They also plan to have a party at Sandbridge in the spring. The officers are President — Pat Bisese, Vice-president — Brian Wills, Secretary — Elsie Doughtie, and Treasurer — Jay Richardson.

Chorus and Bluegrass

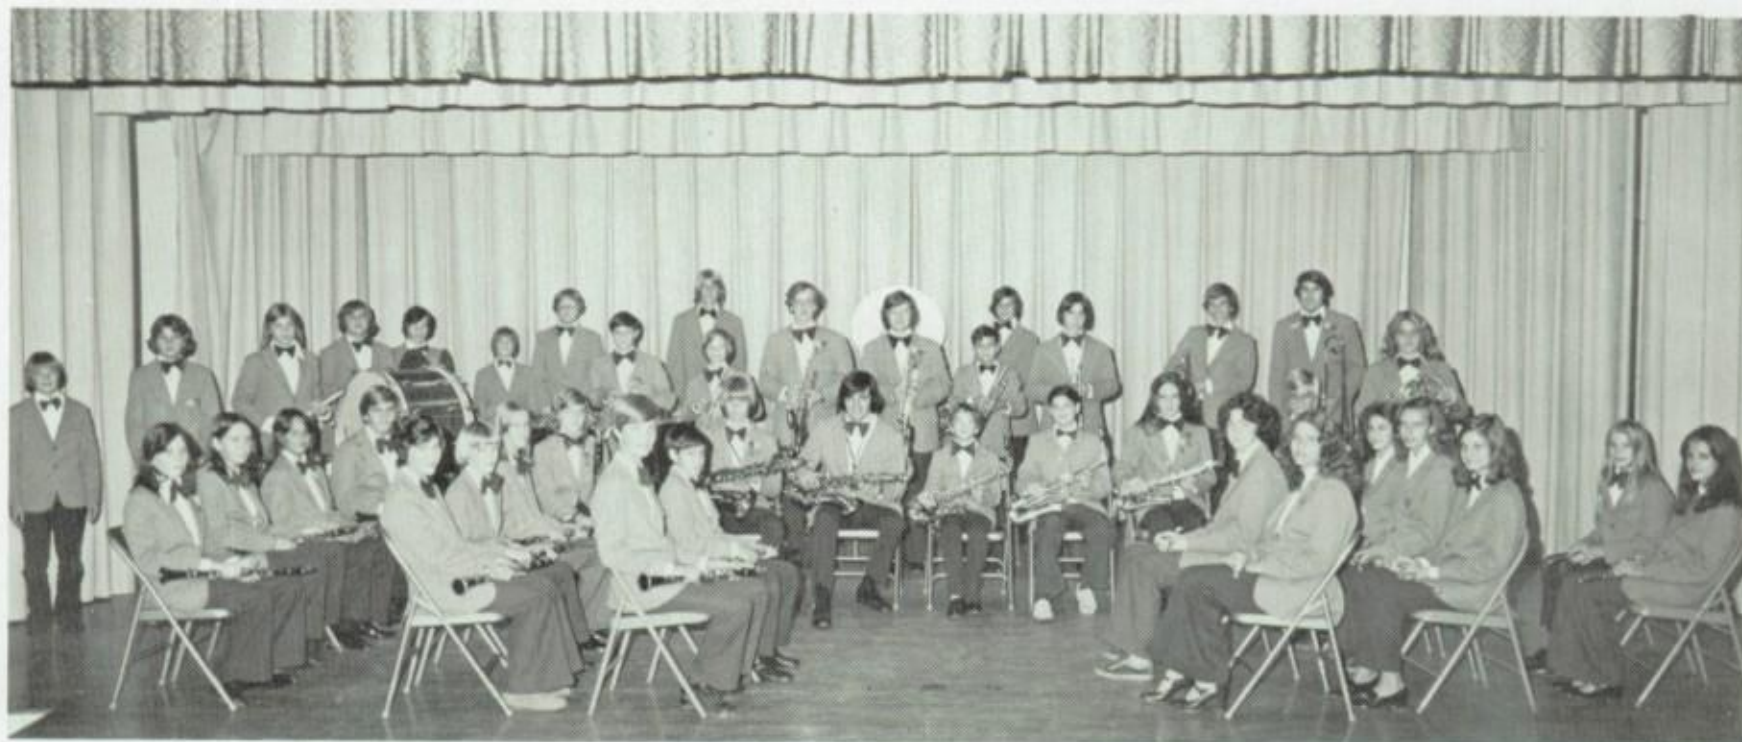

Under the direction of Mr. David Mitchell, N.S.A.'s Chorus has presented quite a variety of music to the student body. They have performed everything from Chicago to Irving Berlin, and have done all quite well.

As for the Bluegrass Club . . . Well, Its Music is Best described as "Free Style." In the relaxed atmosphere of Mr. Horton's room, members get together and play whatever appeals to them. Here, too, is great diversity. At any one time, one can hear an assortment including John Denver, Grand Funk, Bob Dylan, or Woody Guthrie.

THE NSA BAND — RARELY A FREE

This year the NSA Band approached the new season with the confidence that always comes with achieving a first division rating in competition.

The addition of a fine group of young musicians from intermediate band swelled the ranks to 48 bandsmen; a well-attended summer program helped prepare the band for a full schedule of football games, pep rallies, parades, assembly programs, and concerts. Several new instruments were added to move the band closer to a complete instrumentation.

On several occasions members of the band, including the majorettes, made trips to rehearsals of other bands and to marching band contests in order to better prepare themselves to adjust to the corps style of presenting halftime shows. The spirit and enthusiasm of NSA Band members makes it a good bet that the Academy will have one of the finest bands in the area.

SOFTBALL

We began the season on a very cold day in March; approximately twenty-five people began try-outs. In spite of our chattering teeth and constant sniffing, we put forth the best possible efforts. After final cuts, our coach, Miss Spruill, began the task of molding us into a unified team. The team consisted of fifteen players, of which ten were returning from the previous year. The girls chanted, "2-4-6-8, Who do we appreciate?" as the year ended: Cindy Norfleet was selected as Most Valuable Player, and Jody Bryant, Leslie Davis, Debra White, Suzette Collier, were named All-Conference Players. None of this outstanding strategy would have taken place without the supervision of an all-star coach, Miss Spruill!

BASEBALL

Thanks to the expert coaching of Mr. Charles Adams, the 1975 Saints varsity baseball team fought back and finished their first winning season at 8-6 overall, 6-4 in conference play. After losing the first half of three double headers, the Saints came back and showed the desire and hustle it took to come back and be winners. Highlights of the season were two great victories over arch-rival Isle of Wight, and a no-hitter against Tidewater. The Saints finished tied with Southampton for second place during the regular season, but suffered a loss to Amelia in the first round of tournament play. Outstanding achievements for the season included the selection of Mike Richardson to the All-Conference team as a utility player, and the Most Valuable Player award being given to Tommy Munson.

This was the tennis team's second year and once again the courts at NSA were not completed. Despite this hardship they won two matches and participated in a tournament in Farmville. The girls claim they had a great time even though it wasn't a winning season. Keep on practicing, gals!

Eastern Division co-champions!

Our Saints achieved the ultimate when impending doom seemed eminent. After a heartbreaking and disappointing 0-3 start, the Saints caught fire! Playing bone crushing defense with reckless abandon, the mighty Saints surged on to win six conference games in a row. One of the big games was against heavily favored Isle of Wight; they fell prey to the "Jaws" of sharks in a thriller. Homecoming was a big victory — the spirit, enthusiasm, and excitement was exemplified in a total devastation of the team that had battered us so badly on that same night two years ago.

No one but those young men who came into that locker room every day after a rough and tiring practice will ever realize the agonizing torment and frustration that was transformed into ecstatic jubilation. The price was paid by them!

The J.V.'s finished a fine season with a record of 5-3—overall and 5-2 in the conference. Quarterbacks John Bangley and Kevin Eley combined a passing and running attack behind the outstanding contributions of the entire Saints offense with many yards rushing by Richard Pulley, Andre Ballard, Steve Laine and Jimmy Liles. It was a season to be proud of!

JV'S GENERATE ENTHUSIASM

"Let's go, let's fight, let's win!" This plea was continuously heard throughout the past year as the JV Cheerleader's cheered the JV football and JV girl's and boy's basketball teams on to victory. The super victories of the teams continually lifted the hearts of Saints fans. The cheerleaders, clad in their blue, gold, and white uniforms, tried everything from acrobatics and gymnastics to plain old cheering — all in an effort to instill pride and enthusiasm in Saint fans. And they succeeded, too. Their spirit always prevailed.

The JV girl's basketball team finished its second season with its first winning record. Under the coaching of Mr. Dickie Griffin, the girls became quick and aggressive on the court. They entered the tournament with only one loss during regular season play. This was in a tough competition with Isle of Wight. In the tournaments the girls earned the second place trophy in the Eastern Division of Academies.

JV's #1 IN EAST

The 1976 season was truly a memorable, record-breaking one for the J.V. team. Through the leadership of coaches Eudy and Griffin, a lot of hard work, and determination, the J.V.'s were able to clench the number one spot in the East. With a 15 and 0 record in the conference, the J.V.'s spirits were riding high as they left for Randolph Macon and the championship. To these 12 we say congratulations on a job well done!

Despite a season plagued with sickness, the varsity basketball team won second place in the Eastern Division. Rarely did the entire team suit up for a game or dress for practice. Four players on the team suffered mono; numerous others had the flu, bad colds, or other ailments; injuries — mostly off the court — affected some.

The Saints were known for spine-tingling games. The intense rivalry with Isle of Wight was as ardent this year as it has ever been. IWA won by one point on their home court. In a dramatic and ironic revenge, the Saints were victorious by the same margin at home. Other thrillers against Huguenot, York, and Prince Edward eventually secured for the team home-court advantage during the semi-finals of the tournament.

Large crowds attended our nerve-racking contests at home and away. The dedication of the fans, the coaches, and the team combined for an exciting, successful, memorable season.

GET EXCITED!

Carla keeps that NSA spirit!!

Behind every football and basketball team, there is another team, one whose job is to raise high the spirit of the school. We believe that we are a special part of the team, and even when the going is rough, we stand behind them and try to keep smiling.

Last April, out of more than twenty girls, the ten girls to be the cheerleaders for the 1975-76 sports season were chosen. Each one of us wanted very badly to be a cheerleader, but we knew we all could not be. We worked and practiced and smiled and hoped. On the day of tryouts, quite a few quivering lips and moist eyes showed as names were called.

As the first football game approached, all of us were so excited we could hardly stand it. We cheered in rain, and mud, heat and cold, daylight and night. But each of those games were special, even if we were not victorious. Even before football was over, we were looking forward to basketball. Making posters and pep tags was now a routine.

All during the year, we get kidded and praised. One minute we will be called "Suzies," the next minute everyone is yelling right along with us for those last-minute points.

All in all, cheerleading is something special, to all of us. Even though we must sacrifice a lot of things to be one, it is worth every minute we put into it.

Summer practices were long and hard.

"Coach Barnes has made winners out of the Saints on and off the field. Off the field he has created strong people — the kind it takes to function in this present society."

What better endorsement can a teacher receive than the praise of his students? Each year The Scroll is dedicated to one of the numerous people who have added their special touch to NSA. This year, the 1976 staff of The Scroll has chosen Mr. Lee Barnes as the recipient of this honor. Coach Barnes was not selected just because he donated his lab to the yearbook as its dark-room, nor because he led the football team, in his three years as coach, to their first three winning seasons. Even the fact that he is a fun and interesting teacher was not the major consideration. Coach Barnes was chosen because of his overall care and concern for the students of NSA. His participation is not limited to the classroom or the football field; he is seen at most basketball games, and for weeks he could be found in his room tutoring the "It's Academic" team in their quest for all sorts of esoteric trivia.

He laughs with us, he fusses at us, he questions us, he amuses us. He will even step down and admit that he can be wrong and a student be right. Such appreciation of students as people has earned for Coach Barnes the respect of his pupils. For this reason alone, the 1976 staff of The Scroll finds pleasure in saying, "Thanks, Mr. Barnes!"

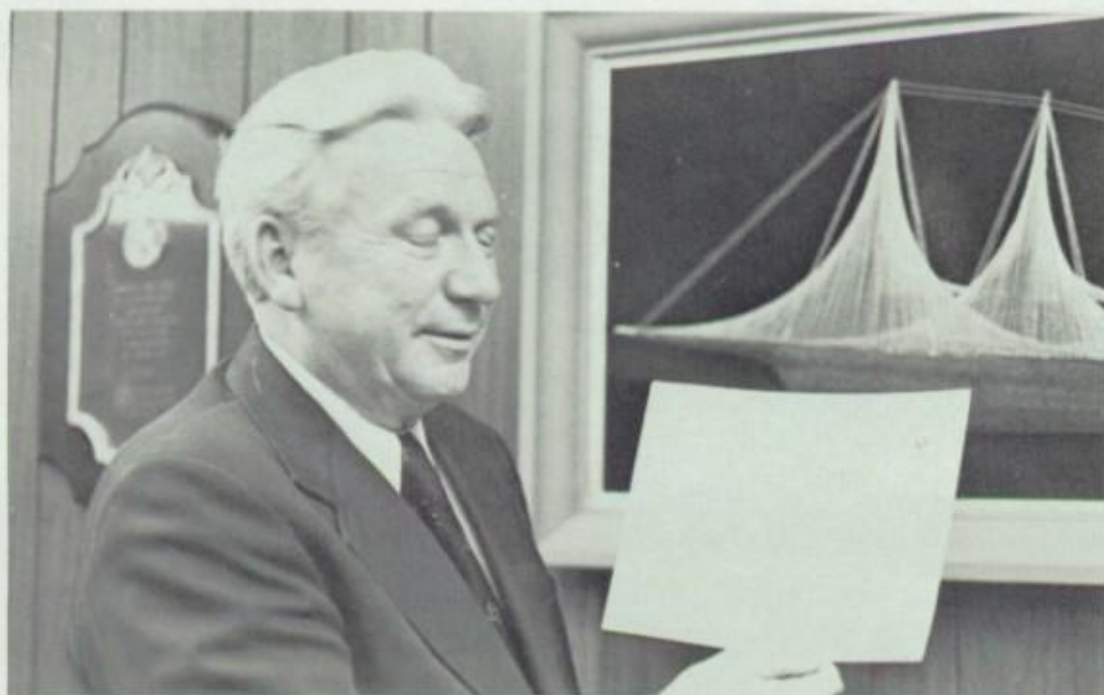

. . . MR. BARNES!

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Board of Directors of Nansemond-Suffolk Academy is a group of patrons dedicated to keeping the high standards set for our school and taking care of business responsibilities. They are the basic foundation of the school and set school policies. These men are elected for no definite terms. The membership on the board represents all the areas from which NSA draws students. They have a constitution and by-laws to govern them. There are committees assigned to transportation, buildings and grounds, finances and academics. The Board of Directors must approve tuition changes, assesment, the borrowing and loaning of money, fund raising projects, expansion of school facilities, dress and conduct codes. Should there be an expulsion the board must approve this also. As hard as it may be at times our Board of Directors tries to please the students, the teachers, the administration and the patrons. Officers: Dr. Lloyd C. March, Jr.; Chairman; Joseph Suttle, Vice-Chairman; David J. Frohman, Secretary; David S. Peck, Treasurer.

AN IMPORTANT ROLE AT N.S.A.

Students rarely stop to consider how many people have put forth an effort for an average school day to start. The bus drivers rise early to make sure that students are picked up on time and arrive before the first bell. They also serve as referees on occasion in minor argument. The ladies in the lunchroom prepare delicious dishes for us each day. They may be called the "galloping gourments of NSA." Our nurse, Mrs. Bryant, can always take care of the tragedies of the playground or gym. She can even give one a quick eye checkup. NSA has a team of "jacks of all trades" — our custodians. They do anything from sweeping the hall or rescuing a shoe someone has hurled on the top of the door in the gym to fixing vending machines. Our bookkeepers, Mrs. Perry and Mrs. Milteer keep accurate records and receipts. The secretaries, Mrs. Sarah Leigh Jones and Mrs. Delores Sealy always add an extra something to one's day, whether answering the phone with a cheery "hello" or calling one to the office so that he is out of class.

The PTO makes many things possible. For instance, their major yearly project is Field Day. This year they made $18,000.00. These funds build the library's resources. Also the PTO enjoyed a visit from the Army band in November. They sponsored such things as: The Space Walk, Train Rides, Hay Rides, and Pony Rides. Other attractions were booths, such as: The Green Thumb, featuring plants; The Peanut Patch, which had various assortments of peanuts; Calico Kitchen with taste tidbits; Grandparents' Shop, putting grandparents into the act. Snoopy's Corner featuring stuffed animals and other items; and a variety of others.

All of these people work hard to make things happen at NSA. Even though some of these things may seem trivial, they are all important. What would we do without them!

"I've got to make it!"

Brian Wells, a typical junior, models his version of class.

We've all grown another year, matured another year, experienced another year. We've learned to accept responsibility, to do things on our own, such as earn money! Sure, it involved some hard work, but we pulled it in from a booth at Field Day, selling many boxes of cookies, and numerous other projects. All of it will be put to good use, such as a dance called the Junior-Senior Prom! We're older now, and have learned a lot, but the main thing we've learned is that there is still a lot more to learn!

Getting it together is what the sophomore Class of '78 has been doing this year! Our spirit has risen like it never has before. We proved that by winning nearly all of the pep rallies in class competition. Homecoming week, we won the Spirit Hall Contest and our float won first place with the theme "Smoke the Vikings." Our annual spaghetti supper brought even more for our treasury. Most of all, we've had fun and have really enjoyed working with each other for a common goal. This year . . . WE HAVE GOT IT TOGETHER!

The Class of '79 is beginning to feel like we belong to the high school. We are starting to think of things like saving money for the prom — ALREADY! Our booths in field day are coming along better every year. We realize now what high school is all about. It is striving for the highest goals which will affect us in what we do after we leave this little nest of ours.

This is one of many science experiments.

... BUILDS BRIDGES INSTEAD OF WALLS

The "engineers" of the lower school work to "construct" the fun or appealing ways to learn. They lay the all important foundation on which future "engineers" will build. But each pupil's design is his or her own, material with which they work. No building is ever built until its blueprints are drawn, just as no life ever grows great until it is focused, dedicated, and disciplined.

The kindergarten and first grade classes did many exciting things this year. Before school closed for Thanksgiving, the kindergarten dramatized their own version of the first Thanksgiving. The eager first graders grasped reading and writing while studying subjects as history and science. Both classes had a lot of new experiences and fun.

This year the second grade has put learning and fun together. While progressing in handwriting and arithmetic, they have learned a lot about our country. One class experienced the first Thanksgiving before leaving on the Thanksgiving break. They dressed up like the pilgrims and held their dinner of small servings of turkey and corn on the play ground. In addition to this, each day they have a break to do whatever they want. This makes school a little more enjoyable and they can still learn a lot with enthusiasm for what they do.

This year's third grade class has had a lot of fun learning many new things. Mrs. Birdsong's class used a system where, as soon as a student had finished his assigned work, he could relax the rest of the day at a learning center. Several experiences like these have helped this year's third grade get it all together.

THROUGH VIRGINIA HISTORY

It has been a fruitful year for the fourth grade through their journey in Virginia History as they expanded their knowledge by traveling to Williamsburg to see history first-hand. There they actually realized what the lives of our forefathers were like.

The fifth grades, through the help of Mrs. West, Mrs. Winslow, and Mrs. Dudley, won free ice cream. They earned this pleasant prize by leading the Lower School in the canned goods drive for needy people. Another class activity for the year was going on a field trip to see the movie, "Let Freedom Ring". It's been a pretty busy year.

THE SIXTH GRADE EXPERIMENTS WITH GOVERNMENT

The sixth grade's year has been unique in two ways. First, they got the thrill of switching classes an experience they enjoyed. Second, they studied new and intriguing topics and experimented with them. For two weeks the entire class was transformed into Communists while studying Russia. Can you argue that this year was not unique?

Everyone rushes to meet the bell.

Sixth graders portray citizens of India.

The seventh grade has done a variety of things this year. In their classes, they have read many forms of literature, and developed skills needed for comprehension, interpretation, application, and research. Some activities included are: map study, dictionary work, outlining, locating information, using context, and applying library skills. While studying India, the students received an added facet of its culture. As a project the boys wore turbans and the girls wore saris during class. The seventh grade had much fun in these experiences and during pep rallies and Field Day.

The Lower School got off to a big start this year and have included many students in their activities. Only one new club has been formed, the newspaper. The newspaper has put out several issues and they have turned out very well. In December the S.C.O. sponsored a Sadie Hawkins Dance and everyone had a great time.

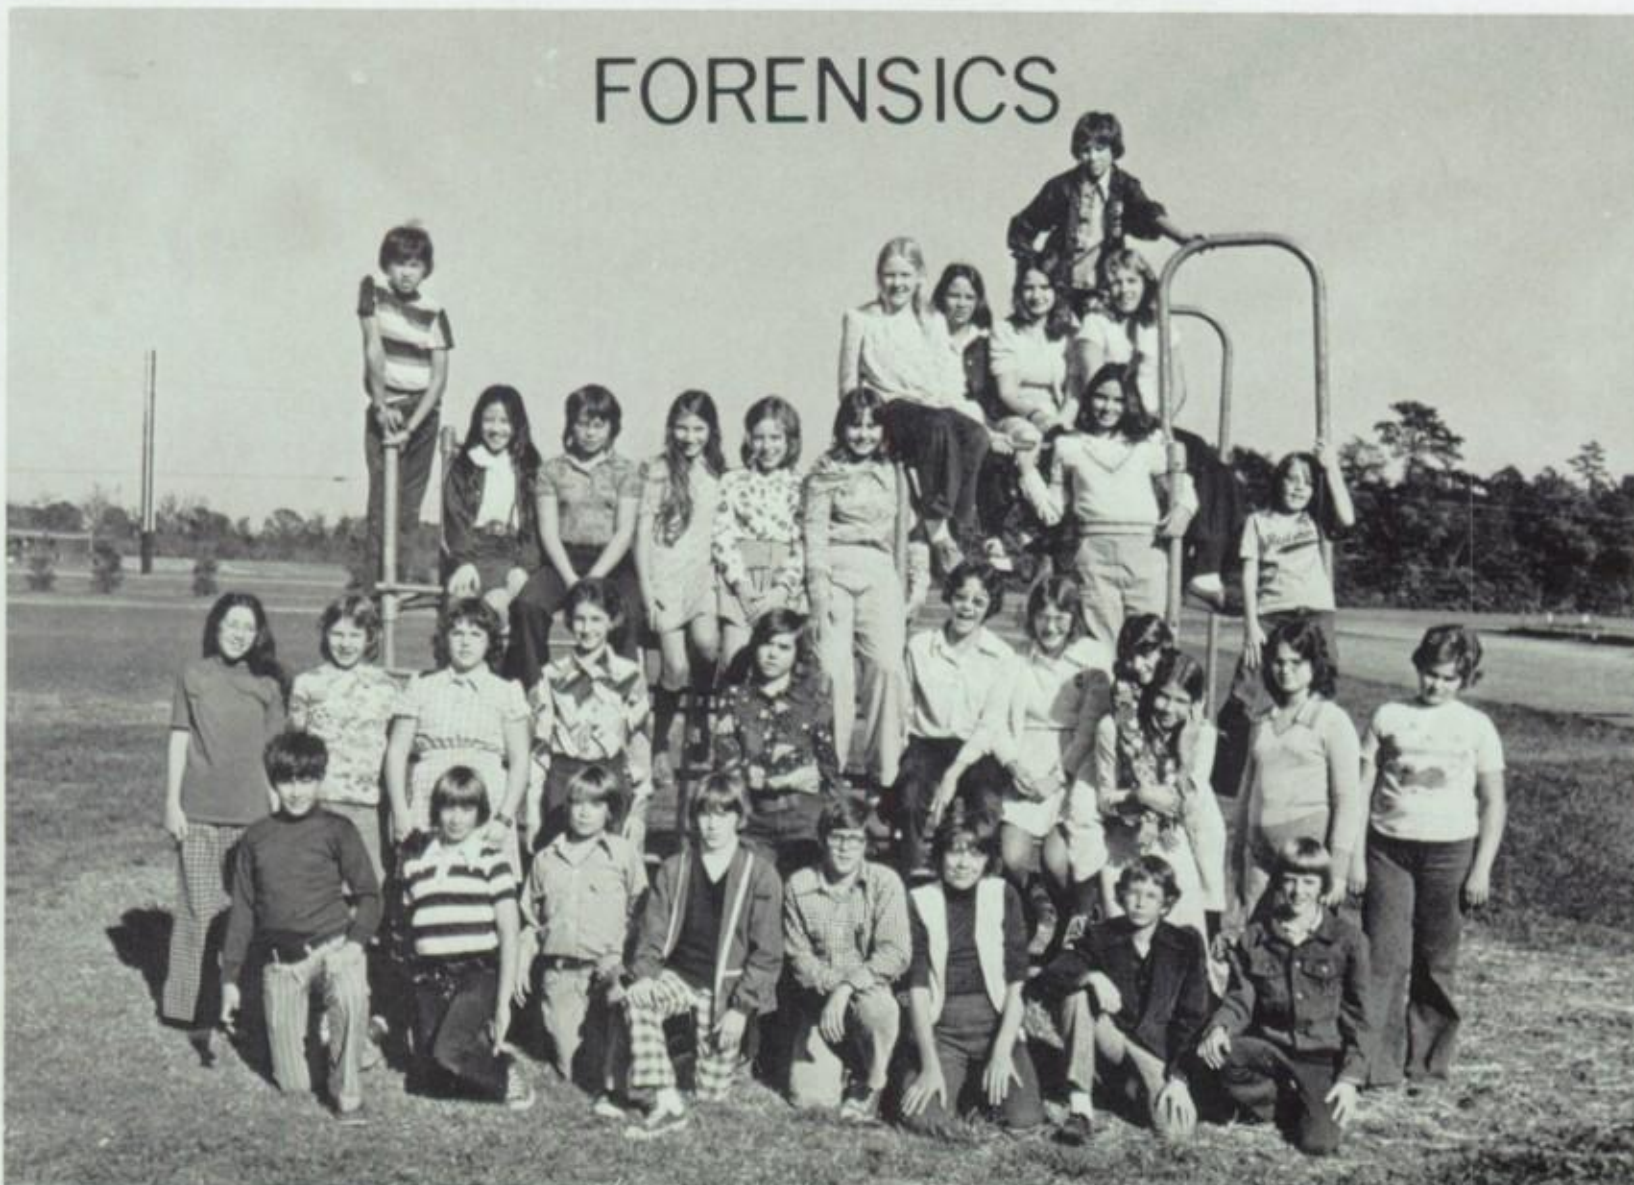

The Library Club listens as Mrs. Turner, the Librarian, talks.

The Forensics Club spends a little time on the playground.

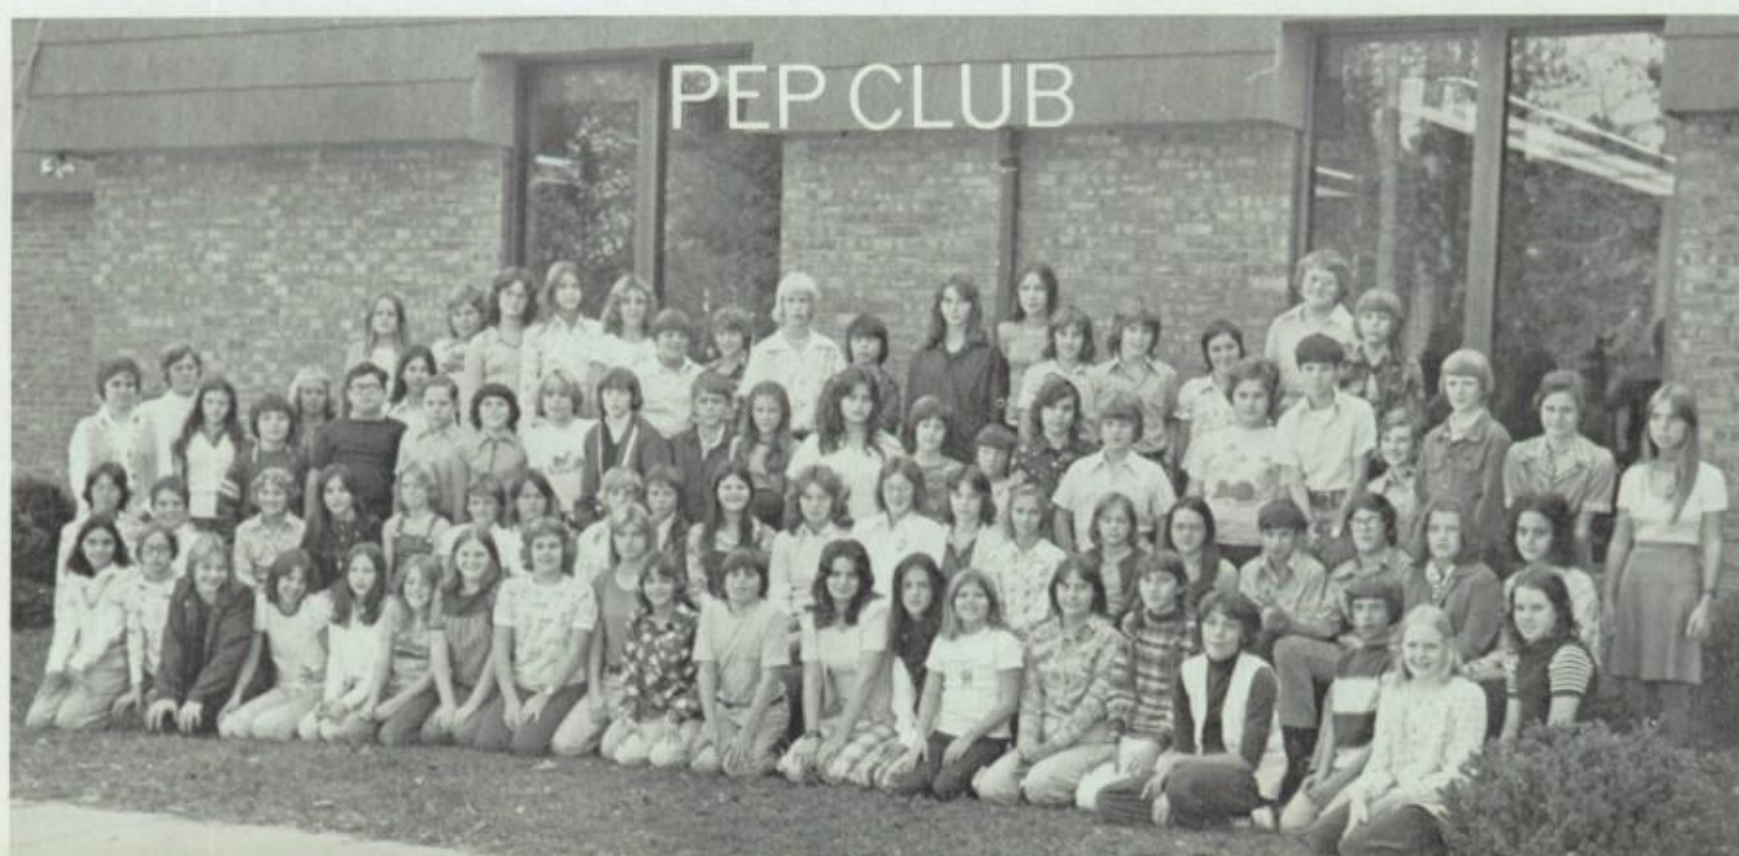

The Lower School picked their S.C.O. officers last spring. Anne Cabell Birdsong was elected President of the Lower School S.C.O. and she has really got the club going. There have been several bake sales to help raise money for the treasury. The S.C.O. collected Campbell soup labels to help buy a projector for the Library. They have also collected food for the needy.

"THE SAINTS LIBERTY"

"The Saints Liberty" is published four times a year; in the Fall, at Christmas, at Easter, and one dedicated to the seventh graders in the Spring. There is a new editor for each edition. The first editor was Lori Bryant; the second, Anne Cabell Birdsong; and the next will be Beth Archer.

The Fall issue gave reports on each grade, every club, and the new teachers. Also included were letters to the editor and poems on Autumn. This first issue was a great success.

The Christmas issue contained Christmas stories written by the students and a section on "What Christmas Means to Me." "What I want for Christmas" was also a big hit with the students. Top Ten Rock was a new feature for the Christmas issue.

What is a school without little ones being able to take the olders' places? The Lower School means a lot to NSA. They keep the spirit going when everything is down. They make every place they go seem a little bit better. Everybody serves a purpose when he gets older and goes to high school. Whether he is going to be the football star, whether he is going to lead all of the cheers or whether he is going to be a friend, he will help Nansemond Suffolk Academy become the best school on earth.

See it sure was fun this year wasn't it, I hope we have as much fun next year. I can't even remember all the good times we had together like the time at Upur, and all the practices. But I'll never forget that time at camp when Upur made me run all over the campus because of a small piece of glass in my hand, what about the time Upur wouldn't turn the air conditioner down (Upur forgive me) have been the same without Upur. all those little race mention Upur made at me in class. Upur are really crazy. What about all the night we would sit up and talk to each other and not do our homework. Upur's really great and I know I wouldn't have been able to make it without Upur, I think we had the best of it around. Don't you? Well Upur had better cheer next year or I'll get Upur (and I mean it)

I'm much for back then lots talk about

Delva,

I don't know where to begin. Ever since I met you, about 4 or 5 years ago, you've always been a special friend to me. I can trust you, for everything, and that's more than I can say for anybody else I've known for that long. Since I won't be here next year, you mean a lot to me now. I remember when you use to come over for Christmas Eve, and that's how we met first and we have been good friends since then. We've had lots of good times together but I don't remember any bad ones, though. This year has been a good one for me. I really know you better, and I'm glad. This summer I hope we can be together a lot. I want you to come out in my boat, and I want to ride Goody. That will be lots of fun. I'll know I'll miss you a lot next year, most of all. Think about me sometimes. I'll be thinking of you. I was glad things worked out like they did for you like they did. You might think I'm crazy, but I don't think it was worth worrying too much about, do you? I'm sure there's going to be a lot more, better than that. Keep on smiling, when things get too bad, call me, I'll be glad to listen and help. Keep your good looks, it drives boys crazy. And most of all keep your personality, ^{over}

 " Jeanie
 Class of '80"
 75-76

Another year is passing. For some, the days are agonizingly long; for others, especially the seniors, the passage of time is all too swift. Yet with every moment that is melting into memory, the bonds of comradeship are growing longer, stronger, and more lasting. Added to our bittersweet memories is the knowledge that, in this fraternity, each of us belongs. We do not have to conform to any specifications nor wear an appropriate insignia. All that is asked of us is that we be ourselves.

Memories are funny things: when we look back on these days, years hence, what will we remember? Will it be the work, the goofing off, the teachers? Or will special occasions like the Jr-Sr, SCO Elections, or the conquering of IWA be the easiest thoughts to conjure? Hopefully, the first vestiges of memories of these days will be the harmonious thoughts between all the students. As each student has realized his own importance in this microcosm, and has assumed his share of the burden, he has helped NSA become a better place because we truly belong.

Well, the year is over. In these pages we have chronicled what we hope is the just representation of the past nine months. The judgement is up to you, the reader, as to whether you feel our efforts have been worthwhile. We are pleased; but, we are also humble in that we realize this yearbook could never have been finished without the help of others. It goes unsaid that nothing would have been accomplished had it not been for our sponsors, Mrs. Williams and Miss Eudy. But there are others: to Mr. Robert Wentz, Jr.; Mr. Spike Moore; Mr. Edward Fariss; Mr. W.E.A. Moore; and especially, Mr. Bill Hash; the 1976 staff of The Scroll would like to say a special and sincere thank you for their extraordinary efforts in making this yearbook the one it is. To those whom we did not specifically name, please accept our gratitude in return for the help and understanding which you gave us. Thank you!

Robin Byrd
Editor

P.S. Did you understand the symbolism of the cover? Don't worry if you did not, we will tell you. Those three people were brought together for a purpose — in this case, for protection from the rain. This is symbolic of our coming together under the umbrella of NSA.
